Robust Logistics to Enable "Make in India"

POST SHOW REPORT 2016

India Logistics Expo 2016 A successful event

The premier edition of India Logistics Expo 2016 wrapped up on 21st May with a successful story to write. The 3-day exhibition was held on 19-20-21 May at Bombay Exhibition Centre, Goregaon (E), Mumbai.

With over 75 exhibitors from across the logistics sector supplier spectrum, the exposition was attended by 2,865 visitors from various end user industries including the ever-growing e-commerce channels which is on a constant lookout for state of the art logistics solutions.

Two world class conferences, India Supply Chain Summit and India Multimodal Logistics Summit were co-located with the exhibition were attended by 200 participants and addressed by eminent speakers from India, Malaysia, China, UAE, USA, Jordan. The conferences saw in depth discussions on topics like Algorithmic Supply Chains, Bimodal Logistics, Adaptive Responsive Networks etc – topics which were of great interest to the Indian industry but not spoken about at prominent events in the country. An interactive mix of panel discussions, case studies added to the interest of delegates.

Sukhjinder Singh, Founder & CEO of Infinity Expo said the decision of launching a comprehensive logistics event in Mumbai was a strategy that had delivered well and all stakeholders were happy with the outcome. He further added, a highly qualified advisory board and strategic partners like CILT India, ISCEA (USA), SCLG (UAE), Frost & Sullivan put in a lot of effort and support in making this event a success that it is. I would personally like to thank Shri Shanti Narain, Chairman, CILT, for spearheading the Multimodal Logistics and bringing together the participants and enthusiasts and creating a complete educational environment.”

Shri Shanti Narain in his comment on the show performance mentioned, “I am really happy that we chose to be a part of India Logistics Show 2016. It was not only a knowledge driven gathering but also a connected platform for all logistics family. We wish the team all the best and would urge them to keep organizing such events in the future.”

Group Chairman and Founder at SCLG, Shashi Shekhar, also appreciated the exposition and said, “This has been a pleasure re-connecting in logistics and supply chain space in India during the 3-day conference-cum-exhibition in Mumbai. Congratulations to Sukhjinder and the team in delivery of a good show. I shall continue supporting this conference and exhibition year-on-year on behalf of SCLG.” This indeed is a great motivator for the entire India Logistics Expo team.

The event was very well organized and executed. The number of speakers spread across multiple sessions was par excellence. Everything was meticulously arranged and the hospitality was just excellent. The exhibition had a wide range of exhibitors which was a feather in the cap. Overall, it was a great learning experience.

Definitely a good beginning and looking forward to the initiative’s large scale value addition and sustainability, going forward. A very good event to bring-in supply chain operators, material suppliers and service providers, technology service providers and thought leaders of the industry, on a singular platform, to forge greater understanding and synergy among various components of ever evolving global complex supply chain scenario. I am sure the expo and conference would have helped all the attendees to get greater insights into happenings in supply chain domain, not only domestically but world over, and be benefited from the learning to shape their own supply chains system for enhanced delivery and customer experience.
